

ERCO

Zenit Uplight

Today, computer workstations are common in office environments. In order to maintain visual comfort and sufficient light in the immediate work area, a special luminescent balance is required. ERCO, the German luminaire manufacturer, approached us to develop a lamp for the modern workplace.

After analyzing office environments, a system of uplights were designed and developed. The series of luminaires comprises of a freestanding design, a pendant and a wall mounted design.

The Zenit upright design enables the user to control the emission of downward light making the work area visually comfortable while minimizing glare. A simple adjustment to the reflectors transforms the lamp's function into a task light.

