

H.F. Belysning (1967)
Sorø Ole Bjerregaard (2008)

Stringline

The Stringline lamp series was developed with the objective of creating a large number of variations by combining a few, individually produced components.

In each combination, the same spot bulb and conical steel shade are used to provide optimal visual comfort and minimize the effects of glare.

A fastening clamp and a few different support structures can be combined to form 14 different lamp models.

Client: H.F.Belysning (1967)
Sorø Ole Bjerregaard (2008)
Product: Stringline

H.F.Belysning

Stringline

The Stringline lamp series was developed with the objective of creating a large number of variations by combining a few, individually produced components.

In each combination, the same spot bulb and conical steel shade are used to provide optimal visual comfort and minimize the effects of glare.

A fastening clamp and a few different support structures can be combined to form 14 different lamp models.

Client: H.F.Belysning
Product: Stringline